

It really does place a call

The coordinator never dials, and the participant never has to open anything.

THE PART THAT MATTERS

It will not dial a number that could belong to a real person.

Only 555-0100 to 555-0199 is reserved as permanently unassignable. Every other number is refused unless someone deliberately overrides it.

The demo rings a handset over the site's own network; the carrier path for an ordinary telephone is written and switched on with one setting. Everything after "hello" is the same either way.
